June 23, 2006 - Ambient Design announces ArtRage 2.11 available in German Language versions. Ambient Design today announced German Language versions of ArtRage 2.11 are now available in for both the Microsoft Windows and the Macintosh OSX computing platforms. ArtRage is Ambient Design's award-winning natural painting software. In addition to the German Language Full-featured version retailing at US$19.95, Ambient Design has also announced a German Language translation of the free version of ArtRage 2.11. The free version is available for download from Ambient Design's website at no cost.

"ArtRage has proven to be very popular in Europe. We're pleased to offer more language choices to increase the accessibility of ArtRage 2", said Andy Bearsley, Technical Director of Ambient Design Ltd.

The German Language version of ArtRage 2.11 joins the English and French language versions available for purchase from Ambient Design's webpage: www.artrage.com/artrage.html

About ArtRage.

ArtRage is a computer painting package designed to provide a natural and easy to use environment for producing art on your computer. By providing realistic tools such as oil paints and pencils, and simulating the real world dynamics of those media, ArtRage allows any user to play around with paint without the expense and mess of its real world counterpart. By providing Tracing tools, ArtRage lets any level of user produce paintings based on photographs or other existing images.

ArtRage 1 was released as a free product in 2004 and went on to win a number of online awards, followed by the first place in Microsoft's 'Does Your App Think In Ink' contest for Tablet PC applications (2004).

ArtRage 2 introduces a wide range of new features and technology improvements that allow everyone from amateur hobbyists to professional artists to get deeper in to the process of painting, without losing the ease of use, sense of realism, and friendly feel that made ArtRage 1 successful.

About Ambient Design Ltd.

Ambient Design is a New Zealand based software development company specialising in the design and development of creative applications and interfaces. The company was founded on a strong graphical basis after Andy Bearsley and Matt Fox-Wilson left MetaCreations Corp in January 2000, but has grown since then to encompass a wide range of technologies.

Ambient was founded with the intention of creating a strong engineering company that would provide an output for some of the talent available in New Zealand. Since our founding we have worked for a wide range of international companies providing complete software engineering services from design to implementation.
